

Black Heart and White Heart: A Zulu Idyll

At the date of our introduction to him, Philip Hadden was a transport-rider and trader in the Zulu. Still on the right side of forty, in appearance he was singularly handsome; tall, dark, upright, with keen eyes, short-pointed beard, curling hair and clear-cut features. His life had been varied, and there were passages in it which he did not narrate even to his most intimate friends. He was of gentle birth, however, and it was said that he had received a public school and university education in England.
