

Facing The Flag

Volume 42 of 54 of Jules Verne's Extraordinary Voyages, first printed in 1897. Facing the Flag is one of the earliest stories dealing with a very modern theme: the development of weapons of mass destruction, and the international community's attempts to reconcile this. Thomas Roch, a celebrated inventor, has supposedly created a weapon so devastating that he demands enormous amounts of money to contract it to the nations of the world. However, his acclamations are not only heard by the sovereign nations; his superweapon is also intently sought after by a villainous mind, striking from his secret island fortress...

This particular edition is reproduced from English-edition public works, and is presented simply with an emphasis on straightforward presentation, attractiveness and continuity of appearance, with each title in the Extraordinary Voyages sporting a journal-style brown cover accompanied by a cover illustration and quote from the text on the back cover.
