THE AWAKENING The Awakening is set in New Orleans and the Southern Louisiana coast at the end of the nineteenth century. The plot centers on Edna Pontellier and her struggle to reconcile her increasingly unorthodox views on femininity and motherhood with the prevailing social attitudes of the turn-of-the-century American South. It is one of the earliest American novels that focuses on womens issues without condescension. The novel blends realistic narrative, incisive social commentary, and psychological complexity.

BEYOND THE BAYOU A middle-aged black woman named La Folle lives in a cabin past an abandoned field next to the bayou, and she has never visited the woods beyond her home due to a frightening experience in her childhood when the young master Ptit Maitre came bloodied into her mothers cabin after a skirmish in the woods.

MAAME PELAGIE In the thirty years since the war, the once grand mansion on Cote Joyeuse has been largely destroyed and has fallen into ruin. Philippe Valmet originally built it in 1840, and his oldest daughter, Maame Pelagie dreams of rebuilding the mansion.

DESIREES BABY Madame Valmonde visits LABri to see Desiree and her new baby, and on the way, she reminisces about when Desiree was herself a baby. Monsieur had found her asleep at the gateway of Valmonde, supposedly abandoned by a passing band of Texans.

A RESPECTABLE WOMAN Mrs. Baroda is somewhat disappointed to learn that her husbands friend is planning to spend a week or two at their plantation. She has never met Gouvernail. When she finally meets him, she finds that she actually likes him.

THE KISS Inside a dimly lit room, Brantain sits in a shadow, gathering courage from the dark to stare at the handsome girl sitting in the light of the flame. Brantain loves her and she knows it. She waits for him to declare his love. She intends to accept his offer despite his unattractiveness because he is immensely wealthy. A PAIR OF SILK STOCKINGS Little Mrs. Sommers unexpectedly acquires fifteen dollars, which seems like a large amount to her. Feeling important and wealthy, she considers how to invest her money. THE LOCKET One autumn night, four Confederate soldiers are encamped on a hill as they wait for their orders. One of the resting men asks another about an object around his neck. A REFLECTION Some people are born lucky, with everything they need to survive. To travel through life on a journey with others like them.
