

Tales of the Long Bow (Annotated)

*This Book is annotated (it contains a detailed biography of the author). *An active Table of Contents has been added by the publisher for a better customer experience. *This book has been checked and corrected for spelling errors. Colonel Crane eats his hat while Mr Hood sets water on fire. Captain Pierce makes pigs fly and Mr Oates makes silk purses of sows ears. You get the idea. G.K. Chesterton sets out on his quest to spin tales of the long bow of the members of the Lunatic asylum which falsify proverbial truths in the real world. The stories hardly flow as a novel, a fact often pointed out by the author who commiserates with the readers about their apparent misfortune of having to sit through the tales of the topsy turvy land. Instead, there is such a satisfying symmetry to the stories that they feel like beautifully executed intellectual exercises, only theres also romance floating around in the air to lighten the mood. The men in this book are mostly mad (or so the world thinks) whilst the women form the salt of the earth. A great read !
